ALAMO CAPITAL PARTNERS, INC.

Capabilities Statement

Strategic Materials and Federal Contracting Advisory

Company Overview

Alamo Capital Partners, Inc. provides strategic advisory and business operations planning for companies pursuing opportunities in government and commercial markets. We help project teams assess feasibility, define partner roles, and plan the work needed to qualify, recover, or bring strategic materials to market.

Core Capabilities

Feasibility and operations planning. Assess commercial and operating assumptions, identify what needs to be validated, and define project milestones.

Strategic materials advisory. Evaluate sourcing and recovery options, review buyer specifications, and plan for sampling, testing, and qualification.

Federal contracting support. Review solicitations, identify documentation needs, and help prepare white papers and other submissions.

Partnership development. Identify where suppliers, recovery operators, laboratories, and prospective buyers can contribute, and help define their roles.

Representative Project Work

Graphite supply and qualification. Supported development of a Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) white paper on a proposed bulk graphite sourcing and U.S. qualification pathway, including sampling, testing, packaging, and labeling.

Subsea cable recovery. Helped develop a DLA white paper on recovering and processing retired subsea cable to reclaim copper and other usable materials.

Polymetallic materials. Advising on a proposed laboratory testing and separation program to assess which materials could be recovered for government and commercial markets.
